CHARLEROI, WASHINGTON COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA, SATURDAY, JUNE 25, 1921

TWO CENTS

METHODIST CHURCH WILL OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY DAY

First Sermon was preached on Site of the Present Structure in 1890

FINE PROGRAM IS ARRANGED

Methodism insistently claims a place among the evangelizing and uplifting agencies of this community. The first sale of lots in Charleroi was on March 4, 1890. Shortly after this the first Methodist sermon was preached under an apple tree near the site of the present church, by Rev. W. S. Cummings, who was then pastor at Venetia. The church was permanently organized November 30th of the same year. Lots at the corner of Lincoln avenue and Sixth street were purchased March 23, 1891. On July 6, 1891, a modest frame chapel was dedicated upon these lots. For sixteen years this chapel was used for the purpose of worship.

The present brick edifice succeeded this chapel and was dedicated June 30, 1907. On that occasion Dr. C. W. Smith, afterwards Bishop Smith, preached in the morning. Dr. James Mechem, who was then Superintendent of the Pittsburgh District, in the afternoon, and Dr. T. N. Boyle, of the Allegheny district, in the evening.

The victory of dedication is remembered and perpetuated in Anniversary Day observances. This service, coming on Sabbath, promises much in profit to this people and the larger community.

YOUNG CARMEN TO BOX AT CONNELLSVILLE

Young Carmen, of Charleroi, has signed to meet Eddie Carver, the Beltzhoover colored fighter, at Conneltsville on the 4th of July. Both men have agreed to make 135 pounds at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of the fight. Sporting writers say that Young Carmen will face the biggest test of his ring history when he meets the colored man in the ring at the coke capital. Carmen disposed of Young Roscoe, of Donora, in a boxing bout early in the spring, and is said to be one of the few legitimate lightweights in this section, and is regarded as a real topnotcher. It is likely the contest will be watched by a number of local followers of the fist arena.

WORK ON OUTER LOCK ALMOST COMPLETED

The repair work on the outer chamber at Lock No. 4 is about completed, the lower gates having been put back in place a few days ago. When this chamber is opened for service the inner one will be closed for needed repairs.

The Iris Rebekah Lodge, No. 299, will hold a bake sale at Leith's Electric office Tuesday afternoon, June 29th, for the benefit of the Rebekah home at Avalon.

SCHOOL BOARD ASKS FOR MORE TRAINS

The Cecil township school board of Washington county has filed a complaint with the Public Service Commission against the Montour Railroad company, petitioning for additional train service that will enable the transportation of pupils to the public schools of the county. The board alleges the road is owned by the Pittsburgh Coal company, and operates but one passenger train each way from Venice daily. The school board asks for two trains a day each way, one in the morning before 9 o'clock, and the other after 3:30 in the afternoon.

MALTAS PREPARE FOR THEIR ANNUAL OUTING

Local members of the Knights of Malta are taking much interest in the ninth annual outing of the commanderies and sisterhoods of the Knights of Western Pennsylvania, to be held at Kennywood park, Saturday, July 23. Wounded ex-service men in the Pittsburgh hospitals and the children of Queen Esther Home, maintained by the Dames of Malta, will be honored guests of the field day association at this year's outing.

The proceeds of the outing will be devoted to the aid of the Knights of Malta Home and hospital at Granville, Pa., the first section of which is now completed and which will be dedicated with appropriate ceremonies on August 13 of this year. The completion of the first section of the home and hospital has established a unique record in the way of fraternal undertakings in that the entire building and its furnishings will be absolutely free of debt when dedicated. Work will now be started on the second section of the home. In connection with the building of the home and hospital, members of the order in Pennsylvania are now engaged in the raising of an endowment fund of half a million dollars for its maintenance, with prospects of greatest success. The home will be open to all members of the order, their wives and families, and the first unit will have accommodations for about eighty adults and twenty-five children.

NOTICE
In order to make clear the misunderstanding on the part of some, I wish to state, first, we make our own ice cream for our retail trade; also, we are prepared to furnish any kind or any quantity to our home trade. Also churches, parties or other gatherings.

The sale of my ice cream plant in the old Borough Building, pertained to my wholesale business and has no connection whatever with my retail store.

Attempt to Commit Suicide By Jumping from the Tipple

A sensational occurrence took place at Naomi, at three o'clock this morning, when a girl named Ida Plummer attempted to commit suicide by jumping into the Monongahela river from the Naomi tippie. Her father, who had followed her, jumped into the river after her, and rescued her.

It appears the girl, who is only 18 years of age, had been in Charleroi during the evening, and shortly before three o'clock this morning was taken home in an intoxicated condition, by two men said to be from Charleroi, in a taxicab.

The girl, apparently, did not want to go home and resisted the efforts

CLOSE OF EPWORTH LEAGUE CONVENTION VERY SUCCESSFUL

The thirtieth annual convention of the Epworth League of the Washington District was brought to a close, at the First Methodist Episcopal church in Washington on Friday evening, with impressive installation services.

The closing day's sessions were opened in the morning with a morning watch and communion service held in the church at 6:30 o'clock, this service being in charge of Rev. J. B. Risk, superintendent of the Washington district. At the 9 o'clock service the claims of The Messenger, the monthly publication of the Epworth League, were presented by Prof. J. R. Carroll, of Charleroi, who has been in charge of the paper for the past year. The session closed with a business meeting and the election of officers.

Among the officers elected from this section of Washington county were Mrs. Anna Power of Bendleville, first vice-president; Mrs. William Lait, California, second vice-president; Miss Mary McDonough, California, editor of The Messenger; and Claude E. Towner, of Monongahela, a member of the advisory board.

BODY OF CENTERVILLE SOLDIER ARRIVES HOME

The remains of Samuel R. Hancock, a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hancock, formerly of Centerville borough, now of Albuquerque, New Mexico, a veteran of Co. D, Sixth United States Infantry, who was killed in the St. Mihiel drive, September 12, 1918, arrived at Brownsville on Friday afternoon, and were later moved to the home of his widow in Centerville borough. Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, in charge of Rev. James H. Grier, who was a Y. M. C. A. worker in France during the war. The American Legion posts of Brownsville and California will attend in a body. Interment will take place in Beallsville cemetery.

BAN PUNCH BOARDS IN CONNELLSVILLE

Authorities, it developed Friday night, have initiated another campaign to round up punch board operators in and about Conneltsville, it is stated, which are in violation of the state law.

FLY SWATTING CAMPAIGN IS NOW IN FULL SWING

WORLD WAR VETERAN DIES FROM INJURIES

Summoning his wife and babes to his bedside at the hospital late Thursday afternoon, just two hours after he had been injured by a fall of slate in the Fairhope mines, Harry Hoffman, aged 35, Fairhope, bid them adieu and fifteen minutes later died. His body was returned to Fayette City Thursday night from the Mercy hospital, Pittsburgh, where he died. Hoffman's right leg was severed close to the body. His condition on removal to the hospital was said to have been "immediately critical." On learning this the injured man sent for his family. Hoffman was a former service man in the World War.

Ten Prizes are Offered to Those Who Make Best Records in Contest

ENDS ON FRIDAY EVENING NEXT

The Fly campaign is now in full swing, under the supervision of Mrs. Emma Dawson, who was recently appointed by the State Board of Health to have charge of this work in the Charleroi district. Much literature has been distributed which explains the necessity of killing flies and of abolishing the sources from which flies come. While this is an intensive campaign that will end on Friday, July 1st, it is the real intent of those in charge that the campaign will continue throughout the summer. The campaign will actually end at midnight of June 30th, and those who are contesting are to bring their flies to the Chamber of Commerce rooms not later than two o'clock on Friday, July 1st, at which time the judges, Dr. Hunter, W. M. Darby and J. S. Heffner, will measure the results and award the prizes accordingly.

In order to make this campaign really worth while the following prizes are offered to contestants: 1st prize, jewel case, J. B. Schafer; 2nd prize, ball bat, Geo. S. Might Sons; 3rd prize, tennis shoes, Schmieler & Kimmins; 4th prize, box candy, W. M. Darby; 5th prize, baseball cap, Roy I. Carson; 6th prize, box candy, Sugar Bowl; 7th prize, baseball, Mrs. Emma Dawson; 8th prize, doll, Mrs. Emma Dawson; 9th prize, bathing cap, Mrs. Emma Dawson; 10th prize, rubber ball, Mrs. Emma Dawson.

The time for awarding these prizes will be announced later by the judges. Any information desired in regard to literature on the fly campaign or by swatters may be obtained either at the Chamber of Commerce or from Mrs. Emma Dawson.

SHOPMEN AGREE ON WORKING CONDITIONS

Representatives of the various crafts of the Altoona shops of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, recently chosen for the purpose of formulating a new agreement to replace the national agreement abrogated by the Railroad Labor Board, have reached a decision on the eight-hour day, true seniority and piece work.

A man must work 48 hours a week before being entitled to overtime by this agreement. In other words, he cannot work several half days and then charge up overtime if called upon to work more than eight hours one day during the week. Relative to the seniority rule, a man transferred will not begin over again as in the past, but will retain his record at his previous post. The piecework principle will be carried out along lines to be definitely named at further conferences.

DESPOUND MINER COMMITS SUICIDE

A lifeless body found dangling from the limb of a tree in a small woods near Cokeburg Junction Friday morning at 11 o'clock, was identified as that of Charley Szalanci, aged 41, a Hungarian miner, who had left his boarding house at Cokeburg Junction Thursday afternoon, stating that he was going to look for work. Evidently he had climbed out on a limb of the tree and then dropped off. He had been dead almost twenty-four hours. He leaves no near relatives in this country. Despondency and lack of work is believed to have been the cause of the deed.

A GENERAL WATCHDOG.

The selection of Charles G. Dawes to be Controller of the Budget is another proof (if another were needed) of President Harding's purpose to have the budget system applied resolutely and energetically. General Dawes had an ample Treasury experience, having served as Comptroller of the Currency from 1897 to 1902. He was president of the Central Trust Company of Chicago for many years and was with the American Expeditionary Forces in France in charge of army purchases. Recently he was called on to put through quickly a plan for reorganizing the Federal agencies for dealing with disabled soldiers.

General Dawes has shown vigor, directness and contempt of bureaucratic red tape in his conduct with government business. He is a man to enforce respect for the law and for restrictions on waste which had come to be so generally disregarded under the last administration. The chiefs of department and bureau heads have been the padding of estimates and a refusal to heed the cuts in them made by Congress. Secretary Houston went to the capitol to complain of threatened shortages in the revenue. Yet he couldn't restrain his colleagues, Secretary Baker and Secretary Daniels, from sending in estimates calling for appropriations of $1,375,000,000 in excess of what Congress found the two military services needed.

The President has strictly forbidden the creation of deficits. But an official is needed who will pursue the offenders and expose their schemes to outwit Congress and the taxpayers. There are many earnest workers for economy in the House and Senate. What is needed now is a "watchdog" like General Dawes who can keep an eye all the year 'round on the operations of the departmental workers.

BUSINESS-MAN LEADS G. O. P.

Beginning at a "salary" of $3 per week, John T. Adams entered the employ of a sash and door factory in Dubuque, Iowa, in 1881. He is now the head of the firm—an establishment that has been eminently successful and has branches in various cities of the West. Although entering upon his business career at the age of 19, and sticking pretty close to the job, Mr. Adams found time to pursue literary, historical and economic studies in which he found pleasure, as well as intellectual profit. He has one of the best private libraries in Iowa, reads French and German almost as easily as English, and has an intimate knowledge of every phase of American history. These accomplishments, together with his very satisfactory management of the 1920 Republican campaign in all the states qualified him for the chairmanship of the Republican National Committee, to which he was recently elected.

A classified ad. will rent that vacant room.

WHAT ONE AD DID.

A remarkable story of the power of one bit of advertising appeared recently in "Printers' Ink." The ad referred to appeared in a catalog issued by a certain New York retail and mail order business. One page of this catalog offered a supplement, showing the styles for the season. In response this firm received 80,000 inquiries for this supplement, which must have led to the sale of a big volume of goods.

If a mail order house by one ad can persuade 80,000 people to sit down and write for more information about merchandise, any store in CharleROI can persuade a very large percentage of home folks to come in and look over offerings of goods which have special value.

Some of the business people who used to groan about the competition of mail order houses are not doing any complaining of this kind in these times. They are imitating the spirit and hustle that these concerns show. By taking advantage of the power of advertising, which builds up the mail order house, the get similar results for themselves.

SCHOOL PROPHECIES.

One of the typical features of school graduation is the "class prophecy." While the essays thus entitled are more or less jocose, they reflect the aspirations and character of youth, particularly in the largeness of their ideas. The graduation prophet usually visualizes their classmates in future years, as conducting big enterprises and achieving social prominence.

Other people who have seen something of life's disappointments laugh at these rosy visions of youth. Yet the world would be a poor sort of a place if each new set of young people did not go forth with this confident expectation of success.

The spirit of expecting large results is one of the finest things that schools and colleges do for the young folks. Boys and girls who have been indifferent to education do not cherish these bright dreams. They are looking for soft snaps. But those who have worked through some good educational course have faith in their ability to do things and to some extent that faith is usually realized by the result.

EXTERRITORIAL CHARITY.

No good business man would long have in his employ an assistant who was forever manifesting sympathy for the welfare of his rivals. The American people will some of these days get out of patience with a lot of editors who are always finding some sort of reason for expressing solicitude for the future of nations that are in keen rivalry with the United States, industrially and politically.

The War Department of the French Government is the center of a scandal because $400,000,000 was paid by France for American surplus stocks. Probably the French reason that Newt Baker would have given them away and the amount could have been saved to the French treasury.

HAD BROUGHT ANOTHER LOAD

Colored Tobacco Grower Knew What Was Expected of Him, and Had Come Prepared.

A colored man from Kentucky drove to a loose leaf tobacco sales warehouse in one of the Indiana cities on a load of tobacco.

When he received his sales slip and he noticed the customary bank check was missing.

Approaching the cashier he said: "Look here, boss, where is my money for this here tobacco?" The sales sheet was consulted.

"It's like this: the expenses for weighing, unloading and commission for selling your tobacco amounted to more than the tobacco was worth. You still owe us just 50 cents," explained the cashier.

"Well, that's all right, I guess, but I ain't got a cent with me."

"Then next time you are coming over the river, just bring along a chicken with you and we will call the deal square."

Within a week the colored man appeared in the office with two chickens, one under each arm.

"Here are the chickens."

"Sure—but you didn't have to bring two of them, one would have paid the bill."

"Yes, boss, but I've brought another load of tobacco."—Indianapolis News.

STRUGGLES ALONG ON $80,000

University of Pennsylvania Law Student Who Receives Huge Income Lives in Modest Fashion.

"Wanted, a stenographer of unimpeachable character, experienced in shorthand and taking dictation, who will be willing to devote her Sundays to indexing and preparing the cases of a struggling law student at the University of Pennsylvania."

This is the model of stenographic ability required by the university's richest student, John Jeffries V of England, who is "struggling" only in so far as his law work goes, for he came to this country with the mere sum of $80,000 a year on which to live, says the Philadelphia Inquirer.

Jeffries, who is a second-year student, already has one stenographer, but his earnest delving into the intricacies of Blackstone and his like require more assistance and he is now looking for a suitable young woman to add to his staff.

The young Englishman, who is the son of a baronet and of John Temple, governor general of Ireland, and has three cousins in the house of lords, is popular among his classmates, who declare that he is quite democratic, in spite of the burden of his wealth. He is quiet and unpretentious, and in his mode of living seems to prove that he spends even a half of his money allowed him.

Japanese Remain Buddhists.

That 99 per cent of the Japanese living in the sugar plantation camps of Hawaii never have been touched by Christian propaganda, and that American plantation owners, managers and others who have helped support Japanese Buddhist missions, "did a foolish thing, if ever man did," were two of the statements made by Rev. Charles G. Murphy, representative of the American Bible society, in a recent address at Honolulu.

Rev. Mr. Murphy also said that the older generation of Japanese living in the plantation camps, owing to their isolation, are forty years behind their native country in thought and understanding of modern conditions.

Any attempt at Americanization of the Japanese in Hawaii which leaves untouched their home life and fails to recognize that the key to the problem is the Japanese language schools is doomed to failure, Rev. Mr. Murphy declared.

One of the Terre Haute ward schools was having a contest in seeing which children could learn the airs of a number of standard songs so they could tell their names when they heard a few bars of the melody played. After "Home, Sweet Home" and "Old Black Joe" had been played several times the teacher put on the record "Believe Me, If All Those Endearing Young Charms." It was played a few minutes and she began to look expectantly at the children.

Then a fair little youngster looked triumphantly up from the list of songs he had in his hat. "Oh, it's that 'Believe Me' in 'I'll be true to you'—I know it," he hazarded.—Indianapolis News.

Would You Believe It?

The game of croquet does not depend upon experts and enthusiasts to the extent that golf and tennis do; but many people play it and more women are concerned in providing the ball-bats and stakes than in the production of golf clubs and tennis rackets combined, says the American Family Magazine of Washington. The playing of croquet is made of wood except the arches, and sometimes these are of bent wood.

Some Large Emeralds.

One South American country has produced an emerald of 650 carats and claimed it was the largest emerald in the world, and men learned that fields in the Ural mountains have produced emeralds that weighed six and three-quarters pounds, while the South American stone weighed only one-third of a pound. The six and three-quarter pound emerald was among the crown jewels of Russia, and its location now is unknown.

Wifely Requirements.

The Spaniards have a saying that a wife should resemble three things, and yet differ from these same things. First, she should be like a snail, which always guards its house, but she should not carry the house with her whenever she goes out. Second, she should be like an echo, which speaks only after the other is finished, but she should not always have the last word, and last, she should be like the town clock, which always sounds the hours with regularity, but she should not sound so loud that the whole town shall hear it.

Matching Up Sable Skins.

In the critical eyes of the furrier there is a great deal of difference in skins of animals of the same species. For instance, it takes hundreds of sable skins to make a long wrap, and because the fur on the under side of the animal is always thinner than on top, the sides of the pelts must be tucked and sewn together in many small seams to give the fur a uniform thickness. A fur cloak costing thousands of dollars is entirely the work of experts.

In October.

October 17 (1893)—Some of the oaks are now a deep brown red; others are changed to a light green, which at a little distance, especially in the sunshine, looks like the green of early spring. In some trees, different masses of the foliage show each of these hues. Some of the walnut trees have a yet more delicate green. Others are of a bright sunny yellow.—Nathaniel Hawthorne, "American Note-Book."

One of the most famous sources or echoes in the world is the "Whispering Gallery" in the dome of St. Paul's cathedral, London, where even the slightest whisper or the sound made by the ticking of a watch returns distinctly after the lapse of a few seconds. There is an echo near Bingen, in Germany, which will toss a sound to and fro no fewer than 17 times.

Just One Mouthful.

In the stomach of a shark recently captured off Australia were found a mustard tin and the lemonade bottle and a woman's bathing suit. The mustard tin and the lemonade bottle might be a little difficult to get down, but surely it wouldn't call for the gulping ability of a shark to swallow a woman's bathing suit nowadays.

Raising the Goat.

In some of the towns of Queensland goats are used for drawing water carts, in teams of four or sometimes eight. Goats are also bred and trained for racing in that Australian province, and a race meet where speedy billies and nannies are entered may always be counted on to draw a large crowd.

Must Not Sling Mud.

An automobile driver who drives his car so as to splash pedestrians is liable to incur a heavy fine in Japan. To prevent this possibility, Japanese drivers equip all four wheels with odd fenders, consisting of strips of paper or fabric suspended from a horizontal board fastened to the hub-cap.

Men have used body armor of some kind since earliest days. Except in withstanding several ballistic tests, neither our modern plate nor our padded armor seems to be much improved over the old helmet and corselet.

A Mountain of Salt.

Nevada contains a mountain of salt, pure, solid and transparent. In the early days, when the Mormons had to rely solely on their own resources, they used flakes from the mountain for window panes instead of glass.

Sigh for the "Good Old Days."

Jud Tunkins says he sometimes wishes we could get back to the old times when the average person was not expected to make a speech except on his birthday or when he got elected to something.

Too Many Before Him.

Edward, returning empty handed from the post office, said: "You will have to send me earlier next time, mamma, because when I got there the letters were all gone."

A London Statue.

The Achilles statue in Hyde park, London, was cast from a cannon captured during the Duke of Wellington's victories, and is dedicated to him and his troops.

Light and Dark of the Moon.

The light of the moon is the time from new moon to full moon, and the dark of the moon is from full to new moon, or through the waning period.

Continuous Reign.

A lecturer says that women will be ruling this country twenty years from now. Of course, why should she rule?—Boston Transcript.

Paid Attention.

"I can't stand the tension," sighed the convict as the electric chair ended his earthly sorrows.—Science and Invention.

Your grandfather can remember when "State Rights" was a much discussed question. Nowadays each state is fully aware of its rights under the Constitution of the United States.

The banking laws of this state, for instance, are designed to give maximum protection to your deposits and at the same time permit state banks to accord a liberal banking service.

VANDALS DO DAMAGE IN BELLE VERNON STABLE

Vandals broke into the stable of George Moss, Belle Vernon, Saturday night last, turned loose two horses and later absconded with some harness. One of the horses in wandering broke the stable into a nit hole, breaking its leg and had to be shot.

The Charleroi Eagles defeated the Pirate Midgets last evening by the score of 16 to 11. Elio and Seddon caught behind the bat. Paul Beoko pitched. Louis Baker starred on second and the whole lineup played well.

MORE THAN MERE BUSINESS

Modern Railroad Has Been Lifted to a Sphere Little Short of the Miraculous.

A cycle of railroad history has revolved before our very eyes. Three epochal golden spikes (at least) have been hammered in by (at least) three golden spikes—and all within the span of a little more than half a century.

What is probably to be the last great "golden spike" in North America is being laid by the United States in Alaska. This "government railway" had its first spike, a gold one, sledged on April 29, 1917, by Martha White.

Another gold spike was driven on that momentous day, May 10, 1903, near Ogden, Utah, when the transcontinental United Pacific line was completed, uniting beyond question of change the fortunes of the Atlantic and Pacific sides of the republic.

The gold spike custom (or habit as it came to be with the irrepresible builders of the continent) began in 1852 to assume significance. For upon Christmas eve, not only the nation's but the world's first "trunk line" was completed at a little forgotten hamlet near Wheeling, W. Va., Roscoe's Rock.

The romance of railroads! Who that lies him down to slumber in New York intending and expecting to arise refreshed in Chicago, can dare affirm that railroading is a business, a commercial enterprise! It is, rather, a miracle—an Aladdin's phantasm—Christian Science Monitor.

LIKE PAGES FROM HISTORY

Deeds of Modern Greeks Similar to Those of Their Ancestors of Many Centuries Ago.

Greeks are reported to be crossing over into Asia Minor to resist the forces of Mustapha Kemal's army and take possession of the territory given them by the treaty of Sevres, an expedition which recalls the memorable crossing of this people 3,000 years ago, the subsequent siege of Troy, and the story of the wanderings of Aeneas, the historic founder of the early Roman race.

About an hour from the sea, near the Dardanelles, the ruins of the ancient city of Troy stand upon an eminence looking out over the plains where her immortal sons fell in her defense. At its foot the Scamander winds to the sea says a bulletin from the Washington headquarters of the National Geographic society.

Excavations on the site have revealed nine cities, built one upon the top of the other in times past. The sixth from the bottom of these is the Troy of which Homer and Virgil sang. Today there stands little to tell of the might of the former Priam and Paris and the splendor which the beautiful Helen caused to be tumbled into dust.

Saccharin Discovered by Accident.

Saccharin, 500 times as sweet as sugar, and much in demand during the war, was discovered, according to the Basler Nachrichten, by an instructor in Johns Hopkins university. The story runs as follows:

In the summer of 1878 the discoverer, C. Fahlberg by name, was trying to restore certain organic bodies. At the dinner table at the close of a busy day he noticed that a piece of bread tasted uncommonly sweet. It occurred to him at once that the sweetness came from his hands, though he had carefully washed them before sitting down to eat. He hurried back to his laboratory and tasted all the glasses he had used in his experiments. One of them he found exceptionally sweet. He analyzed the remaining drops and found that they were a derivative of benzol. In 1884 he set up an experimental factory for the manufacturing of saccharin in New York.

Kidnapers are going to have a hard time if they bother Paul Everitt Collins, three years old, of Denver.

He climbed upon the stool in front of the camera at the central police station the other day and was photographed. Then he thrust his fingers into the recording ink and impressed his finger prints for the Bertillon records.

But he is not a criminal. Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Collins, who recently adopted him, were with him, and they asked that these records be made to insure him against kidnaping. Both said they feared some one might attempt at some time to take him away from them. The records will be filed with the police at the county recorder's office, they said.—Rocky Mountain News.

Increase in Elk Herd.

A good increase from the survivors of the southern Yellowstone or Jackson Hole elk herd is looked for this year by officials of the bureau of biological survey of the United States Department of Agriculture, in view of the unusually favorable winter just past. Last year's rains, it is said, produced a plentiful growth of feed on the ranges, and as a result the elk are reported to be in excellent condition, with the prospect of only a normal death rate instead of a repetition of the mortality of the winter of 1919-20, due to lack of forage and a severe winter.

Record for Brown University.

Charles E. Hughes is the fourth graduate of Brown university to become secretary of state of the United States. His predecessors, who were Brown men, were William L. Marcy, Richard Olney and John Hay.

NEW DIRECTORS FOR THE COUNTRY CLUB

The annual meeting of the member-stockholders of the Monongahela Valley Country Club was held at the club house, Carroll Hills, a few days ago, at which time four directors were elected to serve for a period of three years. The election resulted in the choice of A. W. Johns of Monessen, D. M. McCloskey of Charleroi; Charles F. Thomas of Donora, and J. S. Skelly of Monongahela. Messrs. Johns and Skelly are old directors re-elected. Mr. Thomas succeeds Charles Potter of Donora, while Mr. McCloskey succeeds J. E. Masters of Charleroi.

In addition to the four named above the other members of the board are G. E. Koedel and K. E. Miller of Donora; A. R. Ney and Louis X. Ely of Monessen; R. C. Mountser and Dr. Edwin McKay of Charleroi; and H. B. Simpson and Carl E. Gibson of Monongahela. The new board will meet Tuesday evening next at 8:00 o'clock at the club house to elect officers for the ensuing year. At the annual election Dr. McKay acted as chairman, and G. E. Koedel as secretary.

Reports of the business of the club for the past year were read and proved very gratifying to the membership. The club is becoming more and more popular each day and the financial receipts are better than anticipated. The present season is proving a most successful one and indicates that the Country Club has become quite an institution to the four towns from which it derives its membership. Social events are quite a feature and are becoming more popular each month, while the golf course is finding many additional players with each succeeding week. The golf season is now at its height, and the membership is anticipating many pleasant events during the next few months.

SUSPECTED CROOK TAKEN IN DONORA

Peter Saparitos, a Greek, was arrested by Chief of Police Smedley of Donora on Thursday, charged with complicity in a number of robberies that have recently taken place in that town. The Donora officers received their tip from the Monessen police, who had been advised to watch Saparitos, who, according to their information, had been concerned in numerous robberies at Newell and at Roscoe.

Chief Smedley, on receiving the information, placed the man under arrest and it developed that the prisoner had been guilty of a number of robberies in Donora, particularly among mill men. One man, Nick Kalagas, identified Saparitos as the one who had robbed him of $100 in money. In the hope of securing some of the loot the prisoner had made away with, Constable Titus went to Newell and searched the boarding house where Saparitos lived. However, the only thing secured was a new suit case.

The prisoner was taken before a justice of the peace and committed to jail in default of bail, to answer at the August term of criminal court.

OBJECTIONS CAUSE ELKS TO CANCEL LAWN FETE

The Uniontown Lodge, No. 370, B. P. O. E., announced Thursday that the lawn fete, planned to raise funds to provide a Kidd's Day, tentatively arranged for July 19, at Shady Grove Park, had been cancelled, as a result of strenuous objections on the part of several citizens of Uniontown and a prominent pastor of that city. The objections, it is understood, were to booths, planned in connection with the fete.

HONORABLE MENTION FOR TWO GOOD WORKERS

Honorable mention should be made of Walter Stroud and J. B. Schafer in connection with the Japanese Garden Party. Mr. Stroud as tenor soloist was greatly appreciated and Mr. Schafer's untiring efforts in the supervision of the grounds is well worthy of the highest commendation.

JACK FROST HOLDS SECRET

Yet We May Gather Something of What Must Be Learned If One Would Remain Young.

As if to crown the year, autumn not only brings her mellow fruitfulness and golden days of summer warmth, but occasionally opens the door and lets old winter in. It all happened as predicted, remarks the Minneapolis Journal. No wind played as usual on the hilltop, the stars came out clear and bright, the moon was gorgeous in its round refulgence, but there was an ominous stillness in the air. When the door was left ajar, stifling cold sent her arrow through.

The next morning when the sun arose he had more work than usual on his hands. The frozen forms of sparkling dew hung pendant from the drooping goldenrod and crowned the aster with a beauteous new. The smoke rose straight skyward from the many chimneys round about, while the roofs steamed with incense unknown to them for many weeks.

Autumn had simply turned another page to bear witness to her versatility. She announced that time was up for ripening grapes or late strawberry blossom. The wondrous drama that had for five months past been staged in every garden was for the season closed, but the mighty color pageant of October still remains to celebrate for days in hill and dale the harvest bounty.

What is the secret of this transformed world in field and pasture? Jack Frost has brought with him invigorating air together with the wine and zest of the whole year. But he has steadily put to sleep the flower fairies of the summer. And he has done it by checking the flow of sap and leaf, stalk and trunk. In place of flexibility there is now rigidity of stem and petal, and where pliability was once the mark of garden life stiffness is now upon her flower children.

Who can fail to see written in the garden a parable for man? All is well for him as long as he keeps his frame plastic and his mind open to new ideas and enthusiasms. Vital interest in new issues and a large openness of mind do much to keep a man young. But once let dogmatism touch him, or let him become crabbed or cocksure, set or opinionated, and the frost touches him to check his growth.

Richard Le Gallienne cites well the secret of the frost in saying that "a man is not old till he ceases to fall in love, carries a pocket mirror to examine his tongue." The frost hits him when "he begins to say that times are changed and begins to speak of young people as a separate and disappointing class." The frost touch of rigidity is the secret of Jack Frost.

No time limit has been set to growth in the garden of the human mind. When a man is so foolish as to stake these limits for himself, then he makes himself liable to the benumbing blight of Jack Frost.

Real Republican Prayer.

On March 4 the school children of Terre Haute were instructed to utter a two-minute prayer for Mr. Harding. One primary teacher told her children all about Mr. Harding, the position he was taking and all the responsibilities he was to have. So at eleven o'clock she said: "Now, children, fold your hands and bow your heads. This is the time we're going to pray."

But up went the hand of a very ardent little Methodist Sunday school scholar. "Please, teacher, may I lead in prayer?" he asked.

His teacher nodded, and he uttered his earnest little prayer. "Dear Mr. Harding, please bless us and keep us forever and forever. Amen."—Indianapolis News.

Before you leave a warm room and open the street door to go out, always remember to shut your mouth. Keep it closed until you have walked briskly for about ten minutes. Then, if you keep on walking, you may talk as much as you please.

If you keep your mouth closed and walk briskly, the air can only reach the lungs by a circuit of the nose and head and become warm before reaching them, thus causing no derangement of these very important organs. On the other hand, large draughts of cold air dash directly in upon the lungs, and in a few days you wonder how you caught that awful cold.

Increase Sea Safety.

Lifeboat davits, described and illustrated in Popular Mechanics Magazine, are so designed that one man, by turning a crank, can lower a boat with ease. They are now being installed on a number of ocean liners, greatly increasing the potential safety of service as well as the comfort of passengers if use of the boats becomes necessary. The one crank operates both the outward swing of the davit and the falls. Because of the improvement in ease of lowering, larger lifeboats can be used, with more commodious storage space for fresh water and provisions.

A Would-Be Auditor.

Well, what did you think of my sermon? asked an amateur player of a trumpet, but diplomatic member of the audience.

"I can say this," replied the spectator frankly. "I have a friend who I am confident would have given $500 to have heard you."

"Who is it?" asked the embryo Booth, highly pleased.

"Well, you wouldn't know him. But he's deaf as a post."—American Legion Weekly.

First Man Met Acts as Host.
Within the confines of Persia there are many different people, but none are more interesting than the semi-savage—though somewhat civilized—Lehrish tribesmen, who still survive in the mountain fastnesses. They are a strange people, with laws and customs all their own. Murderous, quite unmerciful, and ruthless when they descend from the mountain sides into the valleys to drive off any strangers who approach their borders, they are nevertheless the most hospitable of people.

The "Green Mountain Boys."
The "Green Mountain Boys" was a name assumed by a body of soldiers from Vermont in the Revolutionary war. They captured Fort Ticonderoga at the battle of Bennington. They were organized originally by Ethan Allen to oppose the claims of New York to the territory of Vermont. The Green Mountain Boys were the first to ask that Vermont be regarded as a state. This was not granted until 1791, when Vermont was admitted as the fourteenth state.

Oil of Apples.
Chemists have newly succeeded in extracting from apple parings, by means of ether, an essential oil, yellowish, and of a somewhat gummy consistency, which possesses in high degree the characteristic and delicious odor of fresh apples. Crabapple parings yield more of this oil than those of ordinary apples. It is likely to be turned to useful account for flavoring purposes and conceivably for perfumes.

Blame the Dentist.
The gums more frequently lose their strength and become feeble from lack of care, but sometimes a poor dentist does much to bring about Riggs' disease. Ill-fitting crowns and bridges are a great menace to the gums and often result in the formation of pus, as do stumps of teeth and half-decayed roots which are attempted to be saved by crowning or are permitted to remain in the mouth.

Her Heartless Conduct.
We read in the World Outlook that Bishop Thuburn was once dictating a letter to a native Indian stenographer. "I am sore over the matter and chagrined," he said. When the stenographer brought back the letter to be signed the bishop was astonished to read: "I am sore over the matter, and she grinned."—Youth's Companion.

Ash Leads in Tennis.
Good tennis rackets require choice woods. Strength is furnished by the, beechwood rim or bow, which is usually ash or hickory, says the American Forestry Magazine of Washington. "Ash is serviceable but its appearance is not regarded as equal to that of hickory or ash, and appearance counts for much."

State Flower of Colorado.
The columbine, commonly called the honeysuckle, is the state flower of Colorado. Although a native of Europe and Asia, it is now found throughout the United States and far into Canada. Lovers of the columbine have endeavored to make it the national flower.

The wild olive is found throughout South Africa, but all attempts to establish a successful industry have failed so far. The principal drawback to the industry is said to be the presence of the "olive fly," an insect well known to the olive-growing countries of Europe.

Kenesaw Mountain is in Georgia. Kenesaw mountain is in Cobb county, Ga., 23 miles northwest of Atlanta. It was the scene of fighting between the federals under Sherman and the Confederates under Johnston in June, 1864.

Do the Himalayas Creep?
Geodetic studies in the Himalayas and the Tibetan mountains seem to show an apparent creeping of these mountain ranges, sideways toward the south. Surveys may eventually disclose the real facts.

Gentleness Always Best.
Gentleness is far more successful in all its enterprises than violence; indeed violence generally frustrates its own purpose, while gentleness scarcely ever fails.—Locke.

Snow Banner.
This is a bannerlike stream of snow blown into the air from a mountain peak, often having a pinkish color and extending horizontally for several miles across the sky.

Of the New-Mown Hay.
The New Zealand black pine, says the American Forestry Magazine, has a faint aroma suggesting new-mown hay.

They Are Rare.
A woman without tenderness is a flower without perfume.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Cynical Definition.
"A bachelor," remarks a disappointed lady, "is a man who lives alone with the one he loves."

"Where There's a Will."
You've got to get up every morning with determination if you are going to bed at night with any satisfaction.

High Flyer.
It is no rare occurrence for the condor to soar to a height of four miles.

"DRY" AGENTS WILL BE AT WORK AGAIN

It is expected that several prohibition enforcement agents, who were working out of the Pittsburgh office, and who were given an enforced vacation about a month ago because of lack of money to pay salaries and expenses, will be reinstated within a few days. All of the enforcement agents in this district, with the exception of one were released from the service when the appropriation was exhausted. An emergency appropriation of $200,000 recently passed by Congress is now available, and this will take care of expenses until the general appropriation becomes available on the first of July. It is promised that several agents will be at work in the district by the first of the coming week.

YOUNG PINCHOT WINS FROM FRANKIE MASON

Eddie Pinchot of Charleroi, made a great impression on the fight fans of Akron, Ohio, Friday night, when he took every round of the 12-round go with Frankie Mason, former fly-weight champion. Pinchot's speed and cleverness kept him out of danger during the early stages while he fathomed Mason's style, and the Charleroi boy opened in the fourth and carried Mason to all corners of the ring with a two handed attack. Mason was on the defensive through the last six rounds and finished in bad shape. Pinchot will likely return to Akron for a bout with one of the leading featherweights of the country.

STEEL COMPANY TO HOLD ANNUAL OUTING

The American Steel and Wire company will hold its annual outing on the river July 9. The big excursion barge of the Carnegie Steel company will be used for the occasion. The barge to be towed by one of the Carnegie boats. The barge has a fine dancing floor, as well as being provided with many conveniences such as excursionists desire on such a trip. The boat will go down the Ohio river.

WANTS HOUSES FOR ITS OWN EMPLOYEES

The Vesta Coal company has brought suits in ejectment against several miners living in the Richway community, near Centerville, who are occupying houses belonging to the company, but who have secured work elsewhere. The company avers that it is not customary to rent houses to persons, who are not employed by the company in and about its mines.

BIG MONEY OFFERED TO HARVEST HANDS

Kansas farmers are evidently in need of harvest hands, as it is reported that $7.50 a day was offered for men in the North Central Kansas district on Friday. The labor situation was reported as being acute, while the need for help in Southern Kansas was reported alleviated considerably. The wage scale originally agreed upon by farmers was $3 a day.

Some one told a good dog story and the inevitable better one followed. "We had a cat at home," related the quiet man in the corner, "which was fond of playing with the wife's ball of wool. One day the cat swallowed it, and some months later when kittens were born they were all wearing jumpers."

The pleasing mouth has lips that curve from thin outer corners to a ripe fullness at the middle. The sweep should be upward to a fine cleft at the middle of the upper lip. A deep cleft just about the center of the upper lip is one of the recognized marks of beauty.

MORE AUTOS IN STATE THAN EVER

Receipts by the automobile division of the State Highway Department have passed by $109,693.19 the record mark of $1,090,873.94 for the entire year of 1920, it was announced on Thursday. The last license plate issued on June 15 was 550-811, while in 1920 the last license number was 531-593.

The figures were announced to show that the acquisition of automobiles by Pennsylvanians continues with about the same increase each year, according to the statement of the department. In 1918 the receipts were $4,048,185.50, while tags numbering 449-441 were issued.

NEW BOY ARRIVES AT COLINET HOME

A "new" street car conductor arrived on Sunday morning for the local street car line. He was taken care of at the home of Conductor Charles Colinet, Charleroi, but as he only weighed nine pounds there was no regulation uniform ready. Mother and son are getting along nicely and Charles is the happiest man in town.

A Fund of Information That You Should Have

DISRAELI, who for six years was prime minister of England, said: "It has been my observation that the most successful man in any undertaking, is the man who has the most information."

It doesn't require any particular information just to go out and buy something. But to buy the best of that something at a price that is satisfactory to you—that is a successful purchase. And to make successful purchases you must have information.

Advertising gives you just that kind of information. It tells you where to go in order to get the best of anything you want at a fair price.

That is why it is a paying proposition for the man or woman who handles a pocketbook to study the advertisements in this newspaper—regularly—every day.

To those who use it properly, newspaper advertising is a source of economy and satisfaction that never runs dry. It is a watch-dog of dollars—a guarantee of satisfaction.

If you would learn the facts about the things you need to make you comfortable and happy,
